About Aichi

Located at the center of Japan, Aichi Prefecture is often coined as the heart of Japan. Its capital city, Nagoya, is the fourth largest city in the country in population. Aichi is also home to the largest automotive manufacturer in the world, Toyota Motor Corporation. Although Nagoya is modernized with iconic and futuristic landmarks, its majestic Samurai history and the natural hidden gems in suburban areas such as Gamagori, Okazaki, and Toyohashi are still well-preserved until today. The beauty of the four seasons in Aichi offers extraordinary views and unforgettable experiences from spring to winter which will mesmerize the eyes of anyone who encounters it. It is definitely a must-visit destination in Japan!

Aichi Now

Aichi Now is an official website that specifically promotes and provides information about Aichi not only for the locals but also for visitors from all around the world.

Aichi's Gastronomic Legacies, the "NAGOYA MESHI"

A combination of Aichi's capital city name, "Nagoya," with the Japanese word for meal, "meshi," expresses all food that represents true "Aichi." Nagoya Meshi is not only famous in Aichi, but is also well-known all over Japan as tasty, distinctive, and nutritious. Aichi has a strong and rich traditional history which reflects in its flavors. Aichi's food culture has always been recognized as unique due to its differences in culture, historical relations between other regions, climate, vegetables, and other ingredients. Nagoya Meshi does not always mean that a particular delicacy was originated from Nagoya, but includes dishes that are well loved and adopted by the people of Aichi as their own. Visitors should certainly try eating authentic Nagoya Meshi while traveling in Aichi.
